

JAPS SURROUND KIANGWAN AFTER SMASHING DRIVE

WIND DAMAGES GIANT AIRSHIP

Akron Meets with Accident Preparing To Start Test Flight.

THREE OF CREW HURT

Trap Had Been Arranged To Disprove Charges of Defects.

By The Associated Press
LAKEHURST, N. J., Feb. 22.—A ship damaged the giant naval cable Akron seriously today as it prepared for a test flight which the ship's skipper hoped would vindicate her airworthiness. Three crewmen suffered bruises and lacerations.

The giant craft lurched suddenly in a freshening north wind and while a broken control cable lashed the stern fabric, reeled in a quarter turn and smashed its vertical fin.

The Akron, piloted forward by its mooring mast, had been hauled out in readiness to carry the subcommittee of the house naval affairs committee, headed by Representative James V. McClintic, Democrat of Oklahoma.

The heavy steel cable broke from the stern handling gear, leaving the ship's stern free in the sweeping wind. Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, veteran dirigible skipper, who was along with the forward control cabin, jumped aboard her and pulled a lever which released ballast from the stern.

The ship, swinging, struck a sound on the ground at the moment the water surged out. It scraped the field for a moment when it was halted by the force of its fall and its ground crew of 60.

Lieut. C. M. Bolster and two seamen suffered bruises and lacerations as the great craft brushed them away from the lee side.

Rosendahl was deeply affected. "A sudden gust snapped the cable," he said. "That was all there was to it."

Flight Postponed

The flight, which Rosendahl expected would disprove charges of poor workmanship in the ship's construction, was indefinitely postponed. E. C. McDonald, inspector during the construction, who had said there were evidences of poor construction, was to have made the flight too.

The fin of the airship, the navy's biggest, was ruined and the lashing cables struck the fabric of the hull with terrific force, leaving great rents and rents on its side. McClintic said the blow as the Akron hit the field may have strained its metal structure, the intricate netting to which the fabric is affixed. Experts prepared to examine the metal.

McClintic was chagrined, but insisted the accident should not cause premature judgment to be passed upon the Akron.

Chinese Fire on U. S. Soldiers

By The Associated Press
SHANGHAI, Feb. 22.—Men of the 31st United States Infantry on patrol along Soochow creek were fired on today as they strengthened their barbed wire defenses, but there were no casualties.

Chinese headquarters, after a complaint had been filed, explained that the Americans were wearing blue uniforms and the Chinese soldiers mistook them for Japanese bluejackets.

The 31st United States Infantry was transferred from Manila on such short notice that there was no time to provide the men with clothing suitable to the Shanghai climate. Some of them have been wearing the blue dress uniform on duty instead of the light cotton drill khaki used in the tropics.

China Preparing for Year's War

SHANGHAI, Feb. 22.—China's national government is preparing for a war against Japan which will last a year, it was said today in an authoritative quarter.

The government is buying large quantities of ammunition and airplanes and importing trench-digging machinery from Germany. The authorities are convinced that the future of the Chinese nation depends on the outcome of this struggle and are confident of the support of all the people.

War Victims Fill Refugee Camp

NANKING, Feb. 22.—Twenty thousand homeless, penniless, half-starved Chinese, innocent victims of the "war" at Shanghai, presented a picture of misery at the Sanpao war refugee camp here today.

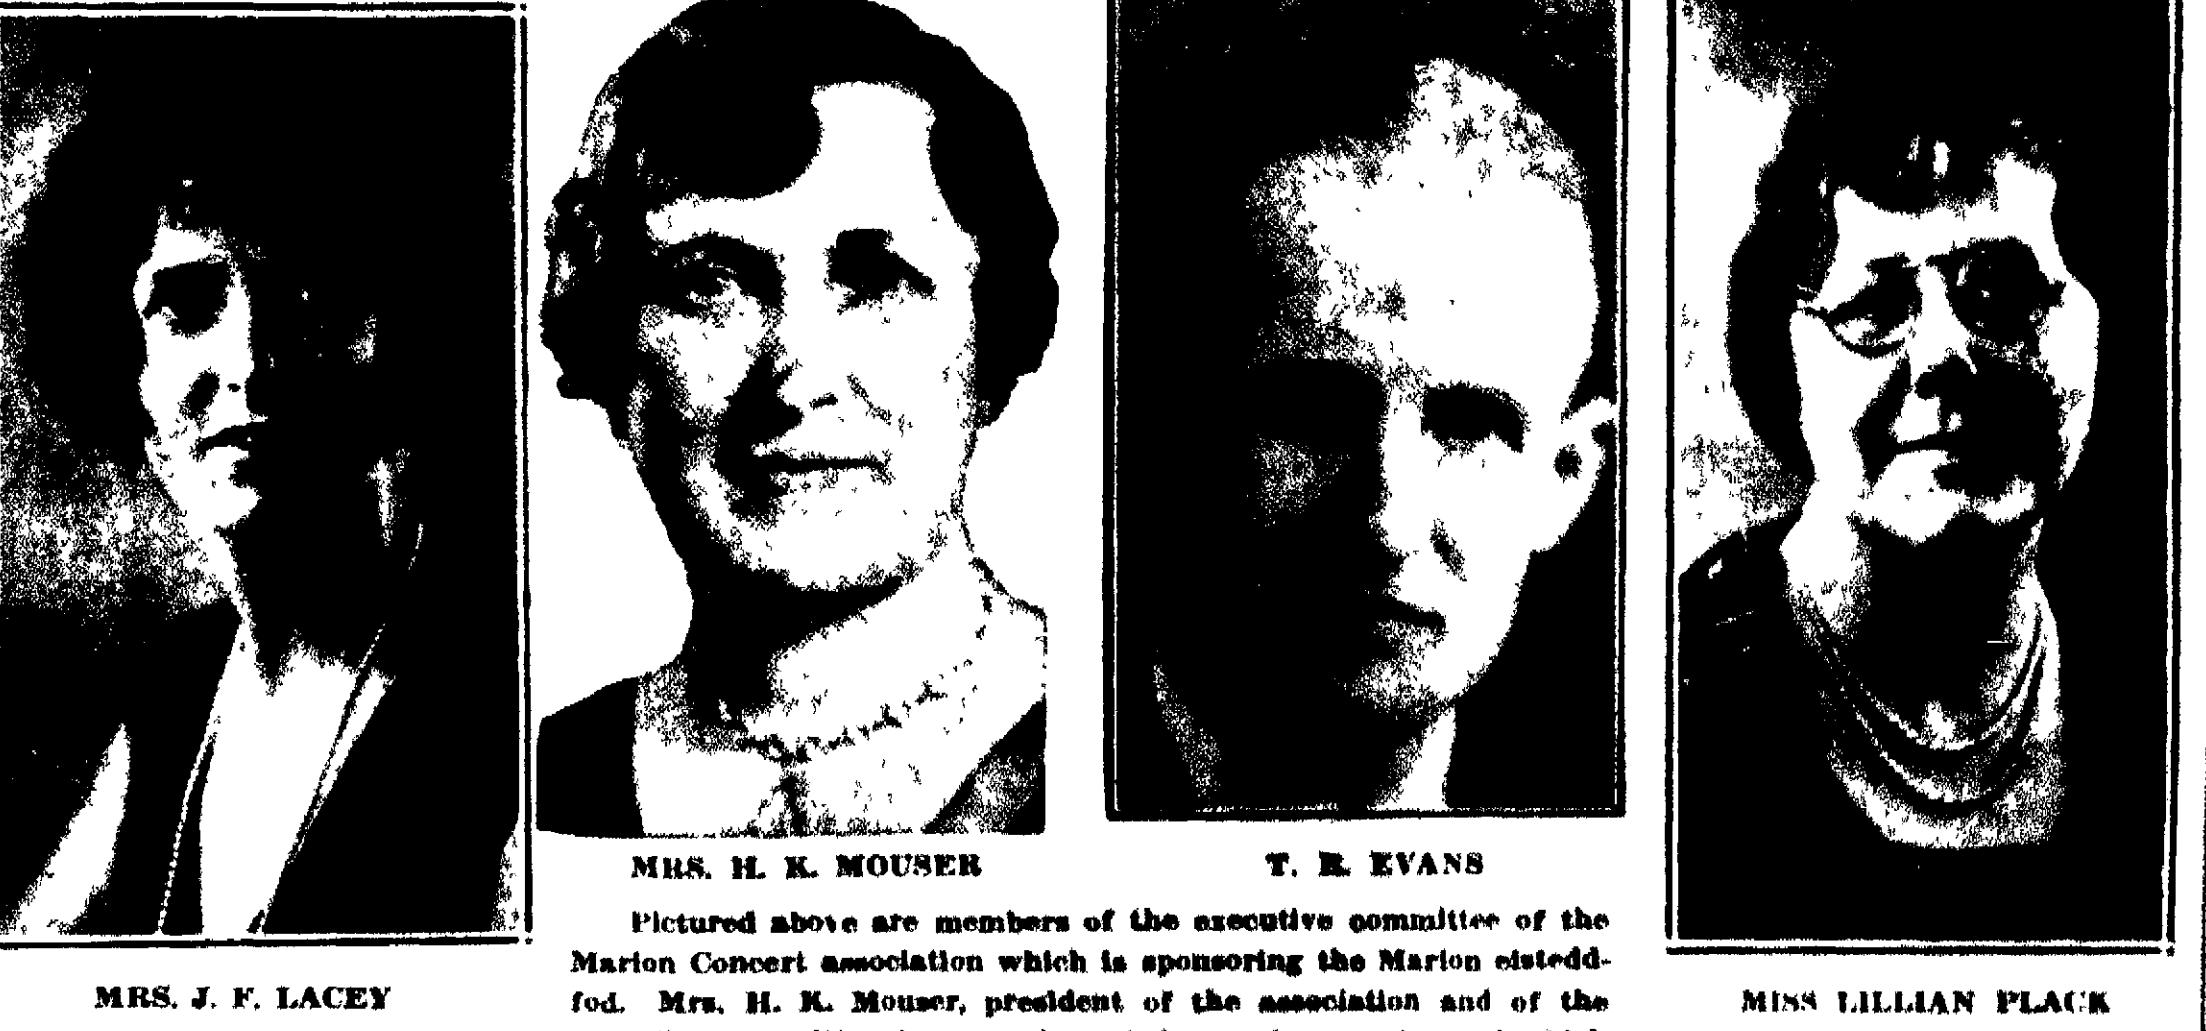

The city government was providing one meal of porridge a day for the refugees. The American Red Cross was also helping.

TWO MEN ROB LA RUE STATION

$190 in Money and Checks Taken from Joseph Wolfe.

Two robbers escaped with $190.19 in cash and checks after holding up Joseph Wolfe at the La Rue station on River street in La Rue Saturday night.

Wolfe was held up at 11 p. m. while he was counting the day's receipts. One of the robbers threatened him with a gun, forced him to walk into a corner of the station, and took $20 in currency from him. The other scooped up the contents of the cash register and took money he was counting.

The men escaped in an automobile parked near the elevator, half a block away. Officials believe a third man remained in the car while the other two held up the station.

Wolfe could give only a meager description of the men. Both were young, appearing to be between 20 and 25. Both had light complexions, were tall, and fairly well dressed.

The loot included $95.32 in currency and change and $94.87 in checks. Wolfe was alone in the station when he was held up.

RUSSIAN OUTCASTS OUT FOR ALL TIME

By The Associated Press
MOSCOW, Feb. 22.—The Soviet government has formally decreed the banishment "for all time" of Leon Trotsky and 26 other Russian emigres now living abroad.

The action was taken by the presidium of the central executive committee of the Soviet union. In Trotsky's case it was a mere formality, for he was banished from Russia three years ago. Among the others were Trotsky's wife, Natalie Sedova, his daughter, Zinaida Bornstein, and his son, Leo Sedov, all of whom live in Turkey.

Central Junior and George Washington Pupils Win Chorus Events.

GET ROTATING TROPHIES

Music Event Is First of Kind Ever Held in Marion Schools.

Central Junior High and George Washington grade school choruses won the rotating loving cups in the school eisteddfod conducted this morning at the Palace theater. Approximately 1,200 children were present. The school eisteddfod was a preliminary to the Marion eisteddfod this afternoon and tonight and was the first ever held in the Marion schools.

Donald Annon of Pearl Street school won a loving cup and a blue ribbon in the boys' voice solo contest. Jane Ruth, also a student at Pearl, won a loving cup and blue ribbon in the girls' voice contest.

Wm. F. Evans of Central Junior and Roseline Mann of State street grade schools won the piano solo events. Their awards were blue ribbons and a year's subscription to "The Etude," music magazine.

Dr. Ernest G. Hesser of Cincinnati acted as adjudicator of the choruses. The junior high and state school chorus awards were based on interpretation, phrasing and accuracy, tempo, tone, diction and general effect.

Earl C. Rupp of Lima, who is well known among eisteddfod participants, and who is conductor for the Marion eisteddfod, acted as conductor this morning.

Miss Helen Atchinson directed the George Washington chorus accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Kelly. The cup and ribbon were awarded Miss Atchinson. The cup and ribbon for the junior high school chorus were presented Miss Josephine Perry, conductor. Miss Betty Lusch was the accompanist.

SMITH MOVES TOWARD "RING"

Massachusetts Friends Authorized To Seek Places in Convention.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The New York Times said today that former Governor Alfred E. Smith has decided to give formal consent to his Massachusetts supporters to pledge themselves to him as candidates to become delegates to the Democratic national convention, and that an announcement to that effect will be made this week.

This step, the Times said, was brought about by the Massachusetts election law, under which Smith is required to give his written consent in a letter to the secretary of state or to each candidate for delegate who wishes to run pledged to him.

It is expected, the article said, that he will file a blanket consent with the secretary of state, and that Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will adopt a similar course.

CHINESE RESISTANCE IS WORRY TO TOKYO

Shanghai Defenders Show Fighting Qualities; Jap Premier Election Winner.

By The Associated Press
TOKYO, Feb. 22.—Considerable anxiety was expressed in authoritative civilian circles in Tokyo tonight over press dispatches from Shanghai indicating that Lieutenant General Kenkichi Uryeda's offensive was being resisted stubbornly by the Chinese and that the Japanese were meeting some reverses. The war office remained outwardly calm however.

It quoted a report from the Japanese minister to China, Mamoru Shigemitsu, saying that conquest of the 19th army would probably require a week or ten days.

Meanwhile election returns showed that the National party of Premier Sun Yat-sen was leading by a comfortable margin. The party leaders claimed the government had won an overwhelming victory and would remain in power.

13-Year-Old Mansfield Boy Killed in Aerial Crash.

By The Associated Press
An airplane crash and scores of automobile accidents cost the lives of six Ohioans yesterday and injured many others, some of them seriously.

Thirteen-year-old Leo Rachel of Mansfield was killed in the airplane accident. His uncle, Charles Rachel, 50, of Mansfield, was also killed. The airplane was en route from Mansfield to Toledo.

FIRST PRESIDENT OF NATION IS HONORED

Whistles Blow, Bells Ring as City Begins Bicentennial Observance.

Marion factory whistles and church bells sounded for two minutes about 10 a. m. today in honor of the birth of George Washington, 200 years ago.

The National Holiday was observed today, the second of a series of observances to be held during the year.

The National Holiday is a day when the people are to be reminded of the sacrifices and struggles of the fathers in the establishment of the nation.

HOOPER OPENS NATION'S TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

Nation, Mightier and More Secure Than Ever, Is True Eulogy of First Chief, President Says in Bicentennial Address to Congress.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Standing before the congress of the United States, President Hoover marked today the 200th anniversary of George Washington's birth by pronouncing him the chief contributor to the nation's greatness.

"The true eulogy of Washington," he said, "is this mighty nation. The chief executive's words—delivered before a joint session of the senate and house—initiated formally the bicentennial celebration of the first President's birth, which will extend over the next nine months.

The occasion marked Mr. Hoover's first appearance before a joint session.

Turning completely from present-day problems, the President traced the course of the country's growth over the past two centuries and called for a renewal of the inspiration of Washington.

Republic Greater Than Ever

"Proudly," he said, "we report to our forefathers that the Republic is more secure, more constant, more powerful, more truly great than at any other time in its history."

He declared impatience with those who undertake what he called "the irrational humanizing" of Washington. There is no need, the President said, to look beneath "his unique qualities of greatness" and great accomplishments.

"We need no attempt at canonization of George Washington," he said. "We know he was human, subject to the discouragements and perplexities that come to us all. We know that he had moments of deepest anxiety. We know of his sufferings, and the sacrifices and anguish that came to him. We know of his resentments of injustice and misrepresentation. And yet we know that he never lost faith in our people."

Throughout his address the President paid Washington tribute as a founder of liberty, of a unique government, and of a system of national life.

The National Holiday

Defining this system as it appears today, he asserted it "is a system of relationships to other nations based upon the thought of independence, not desire to dominate; a determined national self-reliance in defense and independence in action; a system of peace."

HOOPER OPENS NATION'S TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The end seems near for the truce on politics, which has made possible the virtual completion of legislation needed for the nation's economic recovery.

A ringing declaration by Speaker Garner last night charged President Hoover's administration with seeking to rob the Democrats of credit for their part in the achievement and with failing to credit the cooperation given by the Democrats.

It concluded with a warning that "the nation is in a perilous position."

Hoover's reply to the speaker's charges was that the Democrats had no right to complain. He said the Democrats had been in power for four years and had done nothing to improve the nation's economic condition.

He said the Democrats had been in power for four years and had done nothing to improve the nation's economic condition.

ACCUSES JAPS OF CRUELITIES

Defenseless Peasants Killed by "Wholesale," Says American Editor.

By The Associated Press SHANGHAI, Feb. 22.—T. O. Thackrey, managing editor of the American-owned Shanghai Evening Post-Mercury, wrote under his own signature in today's edition of that newspaper an article charging Japanese soldiers behind the Kiangwan lines are killing defenseless Chinese by the wholesale. Thackrey said he reached the Kiangwan international race club without being observed by the Japanese quarters there and watched Japanese officers putting men, women and children to the sword.

"I stood there in the grandstand with one of my reporters," he wrote, "and watched what happened to those Chinese prisoners in the hands of the Japanese."

"A Japanese officer turned one of a group of Chinese in peasant garb to face the sun. His shining sabre flashed up to the hill in its human sheath. A second figure took its place and once again the sabre found its pulsing scabbard. 'Perhaps as the official Japanese military communiques say, these corpses once had been snipers or even perhaps spies. I make no challenge. I just detail what I have seen.'"

"There were women and children among the corpses. Women shot through their padded coats, run through with sabres. Children whose bodies were riddled with bullets. Men garbed as peasants, their wounds soaking the ground."

He told also how he had seen a farmer boy flung face down on the ground and shot to death by Japanese officers.

JAPS CUT THROUGH LINE AT KIANGWAN

Few Hundred Fighters Put Up Heroic Fight for Village.

The Chinese traded punch for punch and pushed the Japanese back under heavy fire.

Wedge Pushes On

The Japanese wedge pushed nearly two miles into the defenses northwest of Kiangwan and forced the Chinese who were defending that sector to withdraw, subjected to constant fire.

Even though accustomed to periodic raids by Japanese bombing planes, the Chinese were caught unprepared when pursuit planes entered the action, swooping over to the rear and raking Chinese military officers who came in from the area, said hayco residents.

"It was obvious," he said, "that one of the objects of the air attack was to disrupt communications between the Chinese front lines and the rear. Great holes were blown in the roadway and it seemed that all military traffic would be tied up for hours. Bodies of soldiers and civilians who were killed by bomb splinters or machine gun slugs lay here and there."

Throughout the fighting Chinese casualties were unknown, but the Japanese admitted they had lost 100 men killed or wounded in attacking Kiangwan.

American troops guarding the northern border of the international settlement spent the day watchfully waiting and strengthening their defenses against stray bullets and shells as the battle approached nearer their territory.

Mrs. Amrine was born near Richwood Dec. 1, 1869, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Baker. She was married in Marion Dec. 31, 1919 to Roy E. Amrine.

Surviving are the husband, one son, Donald McKim of Delaware, by a former marriage, her parents of Richwood, one brother, Pearl W. Baker of Dayton and a sister, Mrs. Bertha E. Ridgeway of Richwood.

Private funeral services will be held at the home here Tuesday.

DRIVER MUST REPAIR CAR HIT IN MISHAP

Canton Man Faces Stiff Sentence Unless He Pays for Damages.

If Ray Lipps of Canton, can make a satisfactory settlement with Guy Layman of north Main street, for damages to his automobile which resulted when Lipps crashed into the rear of the Layman machine Saturday night, he will pay the usual fine of $100 and costs and suffer the suspension of his right to drive for six months. If, however, he is unable to make such a settlement, he will spend six months in the workhouse at Columbus and in addition will be deprived of his right to drive for a period of two years.

This was the ultimatum delivered to Lipps by Municipal Judge W. E. Martin this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated.

A car driven by Lipps, the police said, crashed into the rear of a car belonging to Layman which was parked on north Main street near Fairview street, Saturday night. The Layman car was badly damaged.

The car driven by Lipps was also badly damaged and Lipps sustained a bruised nose when his head was thrown against the steering wheel. He was being held at police headquarters this morning pending a settlement. Both cars were taken to the garage of the McDaniel Motor Co. on west Center street.

COUPLE CLEAR UP ROBBERIES

Mrs. Pearl Griffith, 23, and Brother, of Delphos, Confess.

By The Associated Press LIMA, O., Feb. 22.—One man convicted of bank robbery and another charged with being his accomplice, were cleared of guilt, police said today, by the alleged confession of a young mother of four children and her brother.

The woman, Mrs. Pearl Griffith, 23, and her brother, Clyde Whittridge, 20, both of Delphos, confessed, police said, to robberies of banks at Osgood, Dasher, Malinta and Leavittown.

Morris Boyer, 22, of Sidney, is under conviction for the Lewis town robbery, but police said the confessions of Mrs. Griffith and Whittridge exonerated him and his alleged accomplice, Everett Davis, 20.

Two other men named by Mrs. Griffith as having aided in the holdups, were believed to be in Detroit.

Mrs. Griffith and Whittridge were identified yesterday by August J. Reichert, cashier of the Osgood State bank, from which $1,100 was stolen last week.

Police said Mrs. Griffith told them she used her share of the loot to support her children. She said she drove the robbers' automobile most of the time, but in the Osgood holdup covered employees and customers while her brother gathered the cash.

all commitment to the unknown future, and an aspiration to promote peace and good will among men."

The President's address follows, in part:

"Just 100 years ago in this city Daniel Webster, in commemoration of the birth of George Washington, said:

"A hundred years hence, other disciples of Washington will celebrate his birth, with no less of sincere admiration than we now commemorate it. When they shall meet, as we now meet, to do them service and him that honor, so surely as they shall see the blue summits of his native mountains rise in the horizon, so surely as they behold the river on whose banks he lived, and on whose banks he rests, still flowing on toward the sea, so surely may they see, as we now see, the flag of the Union floating on top of the Capitol; and then, as now, may the sun in his course visit no land more free, more happy, more lovely than this, our own country."

"The time that Webster looked forward to is here. We other disciples of Washington, whom he foresaw as gathered today, his prophecy is borne out, his hope fulfilled. The flag still floats from the top of the Capitol. It has come unthought through foreign war and the threat of internal division. Its only change is the symbol of growth. The 13 stars that Webster looked upon, now are 48. The number of those who pay loyalty to that flag has multiplied tenfold. The respect for it beyond our borders, already great when Webster spoke a hundred years ago, has increased—not only in proportion to the power it symbolizes, but even more by the measure in which other peoples have embraced the ideal for which it stands. To Webster's expression of hope we may reasonably answer, yes—the sun in its course visits no land more free, more happy, more lovely, than this, our own country."

"Today the American people begin a period of tribute and gratitude to the man whom we revere above all other Americans. Continuing until Thanksgiving day they will commemorate his birth in every home, every school, every church, and every community under our flag."

"The true eulogy of Washington is this mighty nation. He contributed more to its origins than any other man."

"From the inspiration and the ideals which gave birth to this nation, there has come the largest measure of liberty that man has yet devised."

"What we have need of today in this celebration is to renew in our people the inspiration that comes from George Washington as a founder of human liberty, as the father of a system of government, as the builder of a system of national life."

"Upon these foundations of divine inspiration laid by our forefathers, and led by Washington, our nation has built up during this century and a half a new system of life, a system unique to the American people. It is hallowed by the sacrifice and glorious valor of men. It is assured by a glorious charter of human rights."

"It comprises a political system of self-government by the majority, resting upon the duties of individual men to the community, and of the local communities to the nation. It is a government designed in spirit to sustain a dual purpose: to protect our people among nations by great national power, and to preserve individual freedom by local self-government."

"No Class or Privilege"

"It comprises a social system free of inherited position, based upon the ideal of equality of all men before the law. The equal privilege of men to strive and to achieve, and the responsibilities of men to their neighbors."

"It embraces an economic system based upon the largest degree of freedom and stimulation to initiative and enterprise which can be permitted and still maintain the ideal of equality of opportunity among men."

"Our American system of national life is dependent upon a trust in the principles of government as established by George Washington, a trust in his example to our people: a trust in a devotion to religious faith, which he himself so devoutly practiced; a trust in that divine inspiration which he so sedulously invoked and which is expressed in the common mind of our people; and above all a trust in the Divine Providence which has always given guidance to our country."

"From Washington's spirit there has grown an infusion of social ideals with the quality of magnanimity: upholding property with generosity, dignity with forbearance, security without privilege, which has raised our institutions to a level of humanity and nobility nowhere else attained."

hastily summoned newspapermen over Sunday telegrams in the governor's mansion, "only out of consideration of a profound sense of duty to the great middle class and the little man, for no one else seems to care to champion their cause."

"Not over-excited about victory in the convention," he pledged himself to "make no trade; form no combination nor compromise on any principle for delegates or for the nomination."

"If successful, my hands will be free of baneful influences," he said.

"I feel reasonably certain of election, if nominated; but if not nominated I shall have escaped a Herculean task and an awful responsibility."

Turning alertly to the "active campaign" he plans, Governor Murray will leave late today for Indiana.

To Webster's expression of hope we may reasonably answer, yes—the sun in its course visits no land more free, more happy, more lovely, than this, our own country."

"Today the American people begin a period of tribute and gratitude to the man whom we revere above all other Americans. Continuing until Thanksgiving day they will commemorate his birth in every home, every school, every church, and every community under our flag."

"The true eulogy of Washington is this mighty nation. He contributed more to its origins than any other man."

"From the inspiration and the ideals which gave birth to this nation, there has come the largest measure of liberty that man has yet devised."

"What we have need of today in this celebration is to renew in our people the inspiration that comes from George Washington as a founder of human liberty, as the father of a system of government, as the builder of a system of national life."

"Upon these foundations of divine inspiration laid by our forefathers, and led by Washington, our nation has built up during this century and a half a new system of life, a system unique to the American people. It is hallowed by the sacrifice and glorious valor of men. It is assured by a glorious charter of human rights."

"It comprises a political system of self-government by the majority, resting upon the duties of individual men to the community, and of the local communities to the nation. It is a government designed in spirit to sustain a dual purpose: to protect our people among nations by great national power, and to preserve individual freedom by local self-government."

"No Class or Privilege"

"It comprises a social system free of inherited position, based upon the ideal of equality of all men before the law. The equal privilege of men to strive and to achieve, and the responsibilities of men to their neighbors."

"It embraces an economic system based upon the largest degree of freedom and stimulation to initiative and enterprise which can be permitted and still maintain the ideal of equality of opportunity among men."

"Our American system of national life is dependent upon a trust in the principles of government as established by George Washington, a trust in his example to our people: a trust in a devotion to religious faith, which he himself so devoutly practiced; a trust in that divine inspiration which he so sedulously invoked and which is expressed in the common mind of our people; and above all a trust in the Divine Providence which has always given guidance to our country."

"From Washington's spirit there has grown an infusion of social ideals with the quality of magnanimity: upholding property with generosity, dignity with forbearance, security without privilege, which has raised our institutions to a level of humanity and nobility nowhere else attained."

1,200 STUDENTS IN SCHOOL EISTEDDOD

Central Junior and George Washington Pupils Win Chorus Events.

roduction of W. C. Phillips, mayor.

Greetings were extended by Mayor Phillips, with a hearty welcome to the eisteddod visitors. W. E. Orcutt, vice president of the Marion Concert association which is sponsoring the Marion eisteddod, presided as chairman.

The song and piano compositions which were sung and played this morning follow:

Boys' solo, "The Big Menagerie" by Maria Zucco; piano solo for girls or boys in grades, "Prologue" from "Robinson Crusoe Suite," by Kern; solo for girls in grades, "Lullaby," by Brahms; piano solo, for boys or girls of junior high school, "Melody" by Charles G. Dawes; chorus, grade school, "Boatman's Song" by Schubert; chorus, junior high school, "The American Hymn" by Keller.

In an intermission the audience rose and sang "O Worship the King" by Keydon, directed by T. E. Evans, supervisor of music in the public schools.

UNION WANTS DAVEY TO RUN FOR OFFICE

Railway Brotherhood Seeks To Draft Him To Oppose White.

By The Associated Press COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—Because they consider he has a "sympathetic attitude" toward labor, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's lodge No. 125 has started a movement to draft Martin L. Davey of Kent to oppose Governor White for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

This was revealed in letters received here by members of the order. The communications, signed by Grover Cleveland Bell of Cleveland, said the lodge had appointed a committee to urge Davey to run, and had resolved that if he declines, he be drafted.

"I do not say Mr. Davey will be drafted," Bell's letter concluded. "I say that he is drafted right now."

Bell's letter also said the lodge had adopted resolutions urging Governor White to call a special session of the state legislature to enact relief legislation.

Typed in one corner of the envelope containing Bell's letter were the words: "Mr. Davey's candidacy will force Governor White to call a special session of the general assembly."

From sources in Cleveland, The Associated Press learned that the four railway brotherhoods committee in templated forming committees in each of the approximately 200 lodges in Ohio to promote the movement.

Davey To Wait for Developments

By The Associated Press AKRON, O., Feb. 22.—Martin L. Davey today indicated he is waiting to see if the move to "draft" him for governor rallies support from throughout the state before he declares himself in or out of the Democratic gubernatorial contest.

"Give me a little time," he said when reached at his home in Kent and asked for a direct answer to the question of his candidacy. "This is all very interesting and it isn't a surprise. I'll say frankly, I've had an inkling of what was going on, but you can't expect me to say definitely right now what I'm going to do. I'll have something for you when the time comes. How soon, oh, I can't say exactly."

TO "BOMBARD" HOARDERS

By The Associated Press COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—Atlee Pomerene, chairman of the Ohio branch of the citizens reconstruction organization, announced that radio, public speakers, chambers of commerce and other agencies will be utilized in "bombarding" money hoarders in Ohio in an effort to bring cash out of hiding.

Fears Code Messages

By International News Service SEATTLE, Wash.—Newspapers are banned from the county jail here by Sheriff Claude Hannick. He said there was no opposition to placing the jail under the control of the county, but explained that personal columns of newspapers might carry coded messages to inmate concerning plans for a prison break.

Undergoes Operation

E. Cheney of 341 Mt. Vernon avenue who has been seriously ill at City hospital, underwent an abdominal operation this morning. His condition this morning was reported as fair.

FIVE ARRESTED IN TWO LIQUOR RAIDS

Police Visit Restaurant on South Main Street and Residence.

Five persons were arrested by the police in two raids late Saturday afternoon.

William Clay, 60, and Nels Able, proprietors of the Bull Dog restaurant on south Main street, were arrested when police found two pitchers filled with alleged whisky under the counter in the restaurant. Both were later released when Clay furnished a bond for $1,000 and Able a bond for $300 for their appearance in court at 9 a. m. Tuesday.

Miss Bernice Mitchell of 137 Spencer street, arrested by the police in a raid at her home, was fined $20 and costs by Municipal Judge W. R. Martin this morning when she pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor. Police said they found two pitchers of alleged whisky at the Mitchell home.

Miss Carrol Ballou charged with disorderly conduct and Lyle Ballou, with intoxication, also arrested in the raid, had not been arraigned yet this afternoon. The two women were taken to the county jail pending their hearing in municipal court today.

Carl Smith of Marion R. F. D. No. 3, arrested on Senate street last week after police had found two week-gallon jugs partly filled with wine in his automobile, was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge W. R. Martin Saturday when he pleaded guilty to an illegal possession charge. He was released under bond for payment of the fine.

TWO MEN HURT IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

Marion and Detroit Cars Figure in Crash on Route 23.

Wilson Beck of 134 Kenmore avenue was confined to his bed today recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident Saturday afternoon on the Upper Sandusky pike.

The name of the owner of a Detroit car which met Beck's in a head-on collision, could not be learned. Two machines in front of Beck applied their brakes suddenly and Beck's car slid toward the middle of the road when the brakes were applied, and into the path of a car approaching from the north. The man in the other car and Beck were taken to the offices of Dr. A. A. Starnor for treatment. Beck suffered a wound under his chin, chest and back injuries, and a minor injury to his leg. The Detroit man suffered a broken kneecap, but refused aid here and took a taxi to Columbus. Both cars were demolished.

SURVEY OF STEEL INDUSTRY HOPEFUL

By The Associated Press CLEVELAND, Feb. 22.—Firm prices for heavy finished steel were mentioned as an encouraging mark of the industry during the past week, in the current survey of the magazine Steel.

The magazine expressed the opinion that the present lack of steel requirements by railroads and auto factories suggests an element of future strength.

Steel added, "the deliberateness with which Ford is entering the market for what must be substantial lots of steel for volume production of the new models, may indicate a policy of waiting out the market."

COSGRAVE PLEDGES FRIENDLY ATTITUDE

By The Associated Press DUBLIN, Ireland, Feb. 22.—President William T. Cosgrave today promised conditional support of his apparently defeated government party to Eamon De Valera if the latter forms a new Irish government.

Cosgrave, whose party ran second to Valera's Fianna Fail in the general election held last Tuesday, said that although his government had "hysterical opposition" during the years it was in power, the new government would have from him an opposition which would support it as long as its policies were beneficial to Ireland.

Risks Life To Save Dog

By The Associated Press CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 22.—Fifteen-year-old John Corl risked his life in an icy pool, that his dog might live. When the pup broke through the ice, John dove in, swam 50 feet in the icy water, and rescued the dog.

Theater Robbed

By The Associated Press COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—Forcing the cashier, Miss Geneva Neal, and Patrolman Howard Hinton, to stand facing a wall, while they compelled Edward Stevens, assistant manager, to open a safe, four robbers took approximately $4,000 from the Palace theater here last night.

ROBBERS MAKE CLEANUP

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 22.—Robbers added insult to injury in the case of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Swertfager. They were held up and stripped of their jewelry while placing the family automobile in the garage. When they entered their home they found the robbers had looted it. The booty was valued at $3,500.

APARTMENT SAFE LOOTED

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 22.—After trying up two employees with tape, three bandits escaped yesterday with an undetermined amount of loot from the safe of the Hillcrest, fashionable apartment building here.

ANOTHER "WOW!"

New Daughter of Irving Berlin Arrives Following Stage Hit.

By The Associated Press NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Irving Berlin, the tunesmith, has two "wows" now.

One is his "Face the Music" which opened in a Broadway theater last week.

The other is a seven and three-quarter pound daughter born to Mrs. Berlin (the former Ellen Mackay) early today.

This is the third child born to the Berlin. A daughter was born Nov. 26, 1926. A son, Irving Jr., was born Dec. 1, 1928, and died of a heart attack 24 days later.

COMMERCIAL TIRE PRICES LOWERED

By The Associated Press AKRON, O., Feb. 22.—Another large reduction in tire prices to large commercial accounts, this time a 10 per cent slash, became effective today as heads of local rubber factories denied originating the move.

Large manufacturers declared the cut would not affect the retail tire dealer in any manner. Heads of smaller corporations emphatically called the move one more step in an alleged plan to crowd out the independent tire dealer.

Fred L. Morgan, Goodyear auto tires director, issued a statement declaring that his company did not initiate the commercial account price move but simply met the price set by others. Goodrich, Firestone and General joined Goodyear in declaring there will be no change in the retail price of tires.

BLADGEN BACKS UP ON KIDNAPING YARN

MALONE, N. Y., Feb. 22.—State police here said today they had a statement from Harry H. Bladgen, Upper Saranac lake camp operator, who turned up in Cleveland last week after having been missing from home several days, in which he admitted he had gone away voluntarily and had not been kidnaped.

C. of C. Committee Has Busy Year in Prospect

Tourist Convention and Publicity Body Begins Work To Entertain Several Thousand Visitors at Conventions Here This Year.

The tourist, convention and publicity committee of the Marion chamber of commerce has a busy year in prospect. C. A. Klunk, chairman, announced today after studying the 1932 work already scheduled.

The number of conventions scheduled for Marion this year will be more than in any previous year, he said. At least five conventions which will bring several thousand visitors to the city for two and three day meetings are expecting the assistance of the committee.

Committees at Work
Mr. Klunk, who carries over from last year as head of this committee, and his assistants will work hand-in-hand with the convention committees of organizations planning to hold statewide meetings here. The hundreds of details demanding attention if the convention is to run smoothly are the worries of this group.

The committee will aid the United Commercial Travelers in preparing for their state convention here Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 9, 10 and 11. Preliminary plans for this convention are to be discussed at a meeting of representatives of the organization and the chamber of commerce committee in the near future. Mr. Klunk said.

Representatives of Edgar Grotto early this week will attend a meeting of the state convention committee of the Grotto in Cleveland in the interest of the Grotto convention here in the middle of October. This convention, probably the largest scheduled for the year, will bring more than 2,000 here. Following the Cleveland meeting, the local Grotto committee will meet Monday, Feb. 28, with the chamber of commerce committee to lay the groundwork for the three-day state convention here.

To Aid Lodges
The chamber of commerce committee also plans to meet soon with a committee from the Red Men's order which will hold its state meeting here June 6 and 7.

It also will take a hand in arrangements for the state Junior chamber of commerce convention in Marion May 14 and 15, and will help plan for a meeting of the Erie Federation system here during the week of Aug. 22. The latter meeting is held every two years.

Members of Mr. Klunk's committee are George Lippenott, Fred Berg, Fred E. Guthery, Sherman Halldeman of the Junior chamber of commerce, D. Mittenbuhler and Robert W. Byrd.

SCHOOL BANKING REPORT RELEASED

Total on Deposit on Feb. 9 is $25,348; 40 Per Cent of Pupils Save.

The average weekly deposits of the public school students over a period extending from Sept. 15 to Feb. 9 was approximately $300, a tabulation from the offices of George A. Bowman, superintendent, shows.

On Feb. 9, the date of tabulation, the balance of school students' deposits was $25,348.

The report shows that an average of 40 per cent of all pupils in the public schools have been saving something each week.

Heavy withdrawals have been necessary this year, but many families with acute problems have been assisted to a great extent because a systematic saving has been practiced in the school savings bank.

"At no time within this generation has the importance of teaching thrift been more important nor has there been a time when we have been more ready to acquire the habit of saving," Mr. Bowman said.

Amounts of deposits and per cent of depositors over the period follow: Sept. 15, $400.54, 34.5; Sept. 22, $497.59, 29; Sept. 29, $404.51, 40.7; Oct. 6, $553.95, 42.1; Oct. 12, $455.73, 42.7; Oct. 20, $574.59, 45.1; Oct. 27, $410.53, 42.6; Nov. 3, $637.32, 46; Nov. 10, $512.02, 43.5; Nov. 17, $545.65, 43.8; Nov. 24, $434.19, 41.5; Dec. 1, $500.78, 43; Dec. 8, $457.61, 41.1; Dec. 15, $476.17, 38.7; Jan. 5, $400.52, 32.6; Jan. 12, $381.14, 34.3; Jan. 19, $449.33, 32.7; Jan. 26, $378.74, 33; Feb. 2, $300.02, 33.3; Feb. 9, $531.57, 32.9.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR WILSON

The ashes of Harold Sanford Wilson who died at the Anglo-American hospital in Havana, Cuba, Feb. 8, were interred in the Marion cemetery Saturday at 4:30 p. m. Rev. Howard L. Oleswiler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted a prayer service in the presence of the widow and close relatives. Full Masonic and religious services were conducted in Havana Feb. 9 with Bishop Hufta of the Cuban Episcopal cathedral officiating. Mr. Wilson was the son of the late Charles H. Wilson and Dora Ruehrmund Wilson. The latter survives with the widow and other relatives.

LAND MARKET BUSY

By International News Service
DENVER — Denver claims a lamb market second to none. Estimates of Denver commission men and stockyards officials show that 1,300,000 lambs are being fattened on the feedlots of the sugar beet country of northeastern Colorado and western Nebraska. Most of these lambs, local commission houses declare, are being fattened for sale in the Denver markets.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, Feb. 23

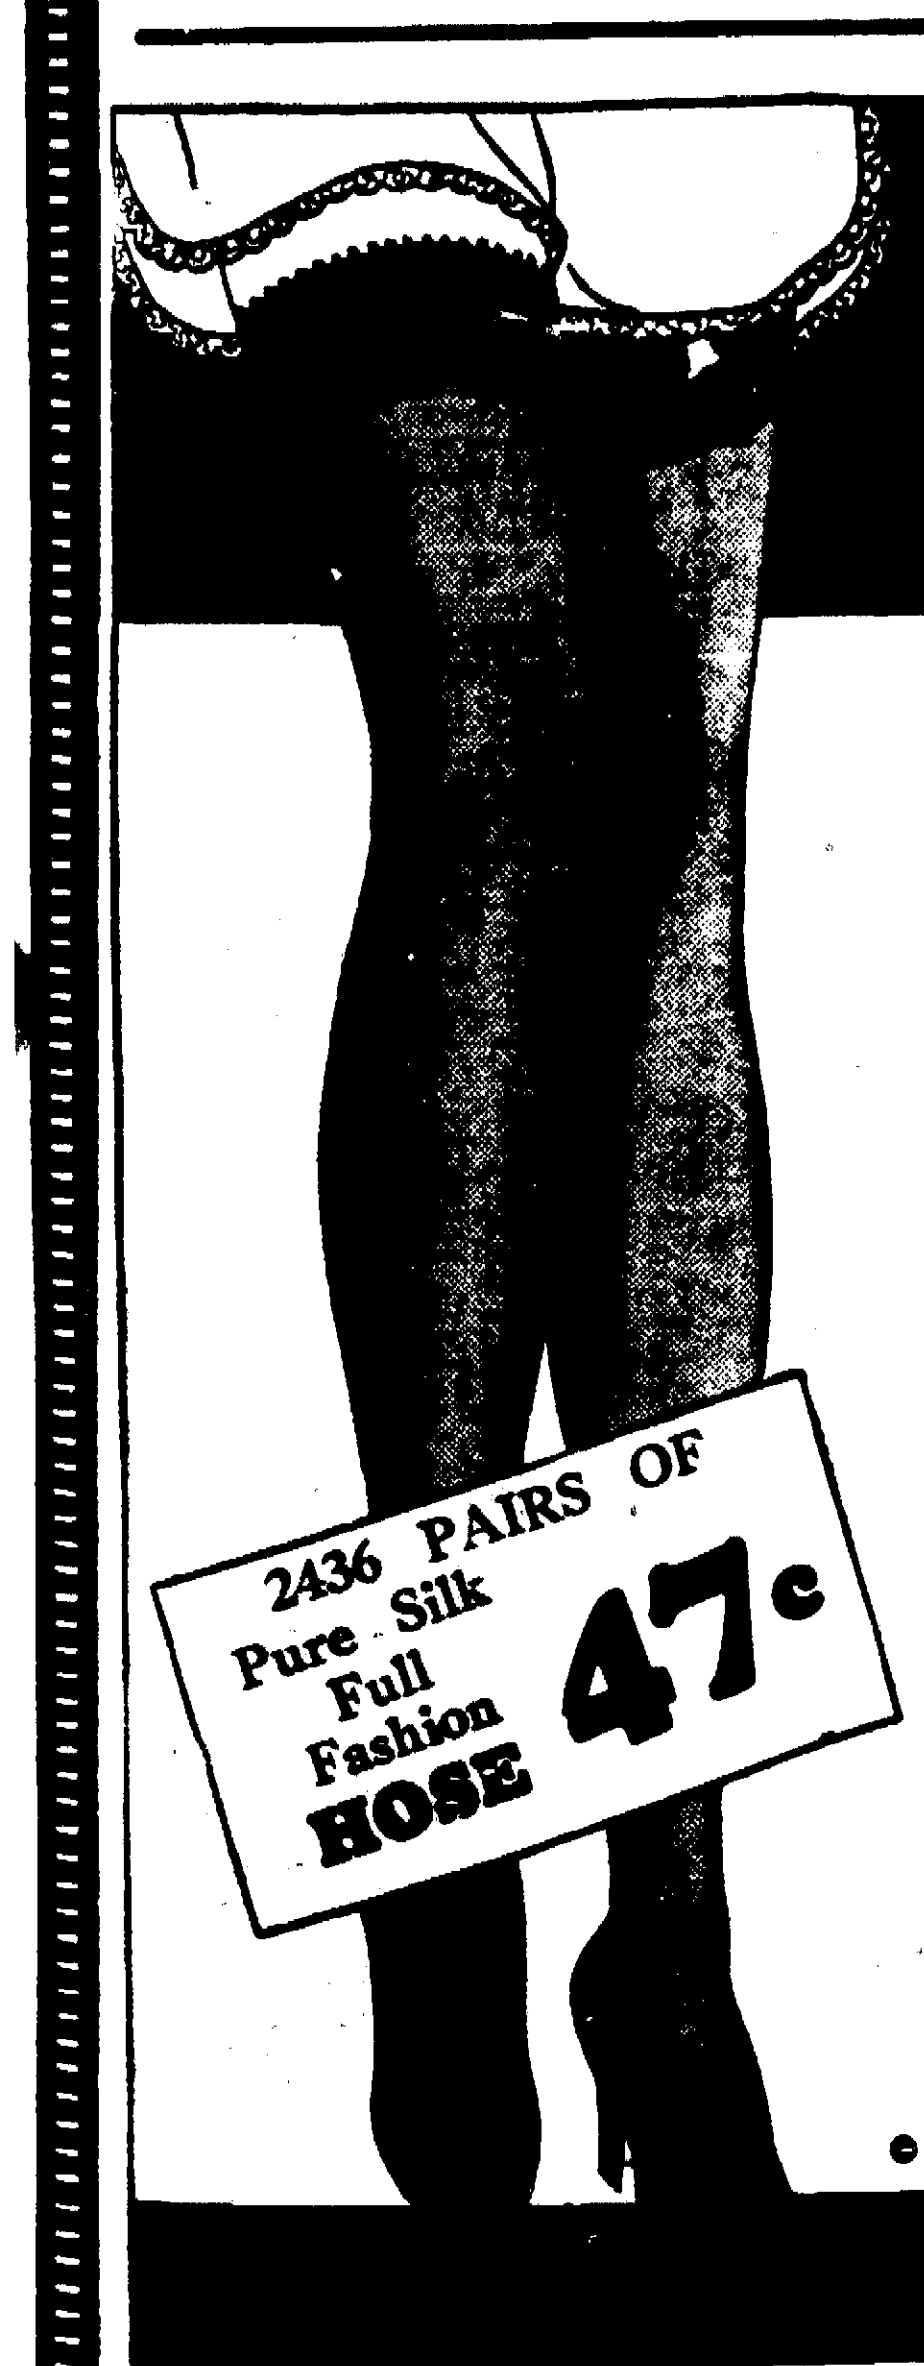

THE astral influences bearing rule on the affairs of this day assist those of industry, application and perseverance to much substantial gain. All matters of labor, industry, agriculture, mining lands and tenancies should thrive. But in social relations there is need of precaution and mental agitation should be suppressed.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of solid achievement if they will apply themselves patiently, persistently and with mental calmness to affairs in hand. Real possessions should increase and the fortunes be stabilized. Personal affairs may take on some singular or subtle aspects. A child born on this day should be industrious, practical, steady and successful in acquiring property or possessions of established worth. Yet it should be taught to restrain an agitated and blustery mental attitude.

Daily Proverb—"Where there is no good within, no good comes out."

The United States senate threatens to go on the air. If people listen in, it's liable to lead to a radical change in the senate personnel.

General Jose Francisco Uriburu, who seized the government of Argentina a year and a half ago, has fulfilled his promise, made at that time, to hold the presidency until a properly constituted government could be chosen. He turned the office over to the duly elected president, General Augustin P. Justo, last Saturday. Performance such as this is quite a novelty in Latin-American republics.

Congressman James T. Igoe, of Illinois, last week told the house that prohibition had cost the treasury of the United States $11,000,000,000 since January 1, 1920. The champions of wetness might make a far deeper impression on the public were they to dwell less on the cost of prohibition to the government and give more attention to the depicting of its cost to the public through crime and the lowering of private and public morals.

The Boston & Maine railroad has announced the perfection of a cooled-air car for summer use which also makes a smoking car smokeless. In the face of the courage and initiative being shown by the railroads, one simply can not do other than hope that they will stage a splendid comeback.

There is little news in the story that the Minnesota Anti-Saloon league has adopted resolutions "against every suggested change" in prohibition and opposing referendums on the issue. If a thing that is sure to be done is just as good as done, it may be taken that such resolutions may be counted on as passed in every state in the union.

George S. Green, retiring president of the Nevada State Bar association, told the state convention of that organization in Reno last week that, in his judgment, the legislature had greatly erred in tinkering with the residential requirements in actions for divorce, "especially since such changes were based upon purely mercenary and business expedients, ignoring the essential moral, ethical and social considerations." If it's any satisfaction to Judge Green, he may be assured that his judgment is that of the country generally.

Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray told the Oklahoma Democratic convention, last Saturday, that he would be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the presidency if the demand "became strong enough as evinced by the attitude of Democrats in various states," but that he stood "in awe of the responsibility of saving the country from what confronts it." The Hon. Bill should not worry prematurely. He may not be asked to make the sacrifice.

Who Shall Use the Rod?
One Woodbury, New Jersey, mother threatens to have the police recorder arrested on a charge of assault and battery for whipping her son, another believes her boy got his just dues, and a third mother maintains a discreet silence.

The police recorder, a young office-holder and not yet fully aware of the necessity to keep on the safe side of the fence at any cost, timidly asserts that he still thinks whipping the boys is better than sending them to prison at such an early age, but promises that in the future he will disregard human elements and stick to the letter of the law for his own sake.

The three boys, arrested for breaking a lock on the exit door of a motion-picture theater, don't understand what the excitement is about, but realize that they are receiving attention and are considered by a good many people to be little heroes. They are being given to understand that even though the police recorder's whipping wasn't much to worry about, it makes a lot of difference who is the whipper when one is a little boy.

Whipping is a parental prerogative, jealously guarded because sought so frequently and eagerly by the general public. Thousands and thousands of little boys who are being encouraged to start their lives on the wrong foot by parental failure to wield the rod at the right moment are immune to whipping—and know it. Society has the responsibility of caring for them after they commit their crimes, but let one of society's servants, elected or self-appointed, dare to lay hands on them for their own good and there is an outburst.

In public opinion, the mother who wants the police recorder arrested is right. The other two aren't aware of their rights. Whether or not they exercise it, the sole right of laying hands on their children belongs to them. The state is the caretaker, not the builder—which may help to explain the crime problem.

George Washington.
There are no pictures showing George Washington smiling. His expression, so far as later generations of his countrymen and beneficiaries have been given to know, was a constant one of cold austerity—the face of a solid man, an aristocrat, with eyes whose penetrating attention never shifted from fixed objects of devotion.
It is this impression of the hero of American independence which rests in the minds of the generations that are observing this year the 200th anniversary of his birth. In the constant and frequently aimless motion of progress, he is a rock of unequalled strength, to which the strong and weak alike turn instinctively in times of uncertainty and indecision. He was, first of all, a tireless and unselfish champion whose extraordinary ability and firmness of purpose wrought a new and potentially powerful nation where none had been before. He was, as well, an eminently successful business man and a legislator of sterling worth. At a time when the destiny of the northern half of the western hemisphere was controlled by a few hands, George Washington's was the strongest and steadiest. Men followed him instinctively.
Today, 200 years after his birth and 133 years after his death a nation which has expanded in prestige and size a thousand times more than George Washington dreamed it would be still looking for leaders to show it the way. There is no necessity now to huddle over miserable fires through the chilling cold of a winter encampment at Valley Forge. There are no bullets piercing the air with their eerie death whistles. The task is not one of construction, but reconstruction.
It is not another George Washington who is needed, but another leader like him with eyes that penetrate the uncertainty ahead and lighten the gloom behind. It is another American who will be great in peace and great in the hearts of his countrymen. Such a man lives, unrecognized by many and misrepresented by others. Like Washington, his greatness will not be acknowledged in his lifetime. But—100 years from now, in 2032, whose birthday anniversary will be celebrated as February 22 is now celebrated? Surely, some one will be so honored. A nation must have its heroes.

Newton D. Baker is advocating a boycott of Japan as a result of its course in China. The Hon. Newton must be striving to make his nomination as the Democratic presidential candidate impossible.

A Pleasing Novelty.
Greetings to the visitors who are with us today, drawn here by the elated mood.
The entertaining of large gatherings is in no way a new experience to us of Marion. Far from it. But to entertain such a gathering of the musically inclined as we have with us today is indeed a novelty, and a decidedly pleasing one.
In the past the entertaining of visitors has largely fallen to our citizenship. In the present instance, we are being entertained by our visitors; not only entertained, but educated and enlightened as well, for there can hardly be a musical gathering of the magnitude of the present that it does not leave its impress on the people of the city in which it is assembled.
It is as good as a certainty that the men and women who have come to participate in the elated mood feel that their presence is appreciated. Even had the heartiness of the invitation extended to them to come and the size of the monetary rewards offered not shown this, they must have been convinced of it by the attitude of our people manifested since their coming. Appreciation of how pleased we are to have them here must be evident to them.
It is contrary to the possibilities, of course, that all the contestants will participate in the very generous awards to be made for exceptional merit, and thus hope that all will prove successful in that regard is precluded, but it is not out of place to express the hope that all will feel that they have performed creditably and done their share to make the elated mood alike pleasurable and profitable in an artistic sense to our people and an encouragement for further endeavors of the kind on their part.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was told by a spirit medium, one night recently, that her husband, the New York governor, would probably get the Democratic nomination for the presidency and that, in that event, the spirits were quite confident that he would be elected. What possible excuse can there be for Democracy to meet in national convention in the light of assurance such as this that it's all over save the shouting?

It's Time To Stop.
A young lad with the flashy name of King Levinsky, did something to Jack Dempsey in a Chicago ring Thursday night. With two flailing gloved fists and a well-conditioned young body he frustrated the aging idol's advertised efforts to fight his way to the top again more completely than any other fighter has been able to do.
Dempsey is moved by one, or both of two reasons. He needs the money he is making on exhibition bouts; he wants to expand again in the old-time adulation of the fans, or he is making a combination of business and pleasure. Whatever his purpose, however, he is responding to them at the expense of his reputation.
Nothing is more painful to a great man's admirers than to see their hero slipping. Whether he be a statesman, a boxer, an actor, a singer or a business man, his friends want to remember him as he was at his greatest height. Jack Dempsey's admirers, and there are tens of thousands of them, like to think of him as the agile, hard-hitting champion who was unbeatable—not as the man who used to be that way.
King Levinsky shattered their fond illusion. Others will do it if Dempsey continues to drag himself along the road he hopes will take him back to the top again. Perhaps it isn't important, as importance is reckoned, but how much better it would be if at least the crumbled remains of the idol were to be left standing.

SELL MUNITIONS TO JAPAN.
We might refuse to sell munitions to Japan; somebody else would sell them. This country would be out some hundreds of millions of trade, without in any way diminishing the fighting in the Far East. All we would get would be the everlasting ill will of the Japanese.
And where could we draw the line? Just to include shells and high explosives? Or would we include cotton, necessary to the manufacture of explosives? In the last six months Japan has bought 1,069,000 bales of American cotton for Japanese factories where the normal purchase would have been less than 500,000 bales. For her factories in China she has bought 705,000 bales, although her normal buying would have been only 210,000 bales. Cotton farmers see the Far Eastern trouble as a means of helping to pull them out of a hole. What a howl would go up if it was decided to shut Japan out of our cotton market and force her to go to Egypt instead. There would be no gain from it, nor any sense to it.
There is just one way to handle an economic boycott or an embargo—through concerted agreement of nations. As a single-nation act it is a breeder of war instead of peace. It hurts only the country that tries it. If applied by all the powers, it would bring an aggressor to time.—Milwaukee Journal.

THE BATTLESHIP.
It is perhaps the absence of any more spectacular news from the disarmament conference which has led the United Press correspondent to emphasize the discrepancy between the American and the European view on the old question of battleship sizes. It is true that in their opening statements various of the foreign powers spoke for reduction in the size of battleships, while Mr. Gibson showed no indication of a change from our previous attitude. Actually, however, such minor technical discrepancies as this can not be of much consequence, except as there may be attempts to use them for maneuvering purposes.
Reduction in the size of battleships may seem upon the face of it to be a natural step toward disarmament; but in disarmament things are seldom what they seem, and those advocates of limitation who have really studied their own subject must be well aware of how two-edged a weapon such a proposal might be. The existing limitation agreements with Great Britain and Japan are built around the size of individual ships as well as the total tonnage, and it would be difficult to tamper with another factor without risking an upset of the whole structure. In 1935 it will doubtless be necessary to consider the battleship question again, but since we have not yet reached that bridge the angels of peace will certainly hesitate to rush in and cross it now.
Under the present position the most powerful single element of sea warfare is practically confined to three navies, all of which are under rigid limitation. It stabilizes the whole naval question. Reopening the present battleship adjustment might lead to all sorts of unanticipated consequences. Remembering what happened with the cruisers, the result might be to leave the various nations obligated to build up to heaven knows what totals of new types in order to maintain their relative positions and restore an equilibrium.—New York Herald-Tribune.

NEWS AFTER A SEA-CHANGE.
Never perhaps was Europe more eager for information of all sorts about America. Yet it is difficult for a fair-minded Frenchman, for example, to gain an accurate picture of the United States. In The Virginia Quarterly appeared an article attempting to explain the distortion which news from America undergoes in crossing the Atlantic. L'Opinion gives a resume of it for its French readers.
Continental newspapers publish dispatches from America. But since few are rich enough to maintain several correspondents here, the source is almost exclusively New York. And since 4 o'clock in New York means 10 in Paris, the correspondent's day is short.
When a New York banker makes a speech in favor of canceling the war debts, large extracts are cabled abroad. Many Europeans become convinced that this country is for cancellation, little realizing that, west of the Alleghenies few papers even mentioned the views of a Wall Street banker. Similarly, the opinion of a federal judge that the eighteenth amendment is illegal was accepted by many in France as the end of American prohibition, though everybody here knew that it was only the decision of an individual judge, soon reversed on appeal.
It is not strange that many French newspaper readers acquire curious ideas of what Americans are doing and thinking.—New York Times.

Editorial Opinion.

Painful Results of Acidity.
BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
"My doctor says I have too much acid in my system and so I must diet."
We often hear this remark. The listener may have but a vague idea of what "too much acid" means. He has a still more vague idea of what to do to correct the trouble.
The normal blood is alkaline. During life it never becomes really acid, but its alkalinity may become diminished. This may occur by reason of excessive formation of acid, or by insufficient excretion of acids.
Diet has powerful effect upon the secretion of acid. The lack of proper elimination from the bowels or kidneys has a marked influence upon its elimination.
The common symptoms of an excess of acid may be reminders of gout. There are pains in the joints, indigestion, nervousness, headaches or eruptions of the skin. If the secretions of acid in the stomach are increased, there will be discomfort after meals or between meals.
The first step toward a cure is to obtain good elimination through the bowels, skin and kidneys. Next, there must be regulation of the patient's diet, particularly as regards the combinations of foods he habitually chooses.
For example, it is not wise to eat acid fruit, such as tomatoes or rhubarb, with a meal of starchy food. Better digestion is secured when the acid vegetables or fruit are eaten with a meat meal.
The acid of tomatoes interferes with the digestion of starch and produces indigestion, while vegetable salads with French dressing made with lemon juice, may be safely eaten with starchy meals.
Let us consider the question of a suitable diet for those who have a tendency to excessive formation of acid. For these the following suggestions may be helpful.
The use of meat for the sufferer from too much acid depends somewhat upon certain things. For instance, gouty patients should partake sparingly of meat. In such cases, white meat is less objectionable than red meat. Boiled meats are better than roasted or fried, because in boiling most of the acid-forming substances escape in the water. Salted meats, as ham or salted fish, are usually badly borne, as is any food with an excess of salt. Milk and eggs are commonly well digested and may be used to compensate for the partial abstinence from meat.
Where the excessive acidity appears as a digestive disorder, all stimulating food must be avoided. This includes condiments, such as mustard, spices and pepper, which stimulate acid formation in the stomach. Meat may be taken, in moderation, as its digestion takes up some of the excess acid. Most vegetables are tolerated. Potatoes, spinach and asparagus may be taken. Peas and carrots are best eaten in the form of purees.
Fat decreases acid formation and may be taken in moderation. Butter and milk should be plentifully supplied, but no fried food should be included in the diet. Tea is permissible, but strong coffee is not advised.
Small meals taken at frequent intervals are preferable to heavy meals at longer intervals. For the feeling of burning in the stomach that often comes on about two hours after eating, a soda biscuit and a glass of milk will usually give relief.
ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES
M. I. Q.—What causes a person to feel too tired to go out? When I am out I feel as though I were in a daze.
A.—This may be due to auto-intoxication or to undue fatigue. Be sure that the system is clear and avoid becoming over-tired. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.
Mrs. H.W. Q.—What would make a child persist in scratching the nose? What can be done to overcome the habit or trouble?
A.—This is usually indicative of pin or intestinal worms. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Prince of Wales Democratic.
BY W. G. QUINN-KERRY
London, Feb. 22.—The Prince of Wales is becoming one of the most ardent movie fans in London.
At one of the big movie houses in Leicester square he is counted among the best customers. He hasn't missed a picture for seven weeks. Sometimes he has been seen there even twice a week, and that isn't the only one he attends.
The movies furnish him a welcome relief from the banquets and state functions. He is said to seize every opportunity to dash off and view the latest Hollywood product.
The prince's trips to the movies are thoroughly informal. No one is informed beforehand. No one reserves a seat for him. He simply makes his way to the box-office, pays his money and is given the best seat which happens to be available.
Often he passes in and out of the theater almost unrecognized, although he usually brings a small party. Many times patrons have sat next to him in the dimness of the theater's interior without knowing it. Quietly, unobtrusively, he sinks into an ordinary red plush seat among the tired clerks and shop-girls and settles down to a really enjoyable evening.
King George's state crown has just been overhauled, and the incident caused no small amount of excitement.
The crown is kept in the jewel room of the Tower of London, along with those of Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales. The king wears it only on high state occasions such as the opening of parliament. At other times it is kept on exhibition in the tower, guarded closely by the soldiers there.
Recently it was taken away in great secrecy to a goldsmith's shop, escorted by detectives. A specially-picked police guard was posted about the shop. Officers of the tower hoped no one would notice the crown's disappearance, but eventually, of course, they had to explain.
Through a misunderstanding it was reported that the crown did not fit properly and was being better adjusted to the king's head. Londoners were puzzled. Surely, they reasoned, the king must have noticed before whether it fitted him or not. It was learned later that it was removed because certain stones needed resetting.
It would be impossible to estimate the value of the king's crown in the open market. It contains a huge ruby and a large sapphire, sixteen smaller sapphires and four smaller rubies, eleven emeralds, more than 1,000 diamonds, 147 table diamonds, four drop-shaped pearls and 273 other fine pearls.

The London subway has just installed the world's fastest escalators. They travel 150 feet a minute during the rush hour and soon will be capable of doing 180—twice as fast as the speediest moving stairways of older make.
A fast runner can not climb up the escalator while it is moving downward. The subway authorities tried it out with old people, cripples and children in arms and pronounced it safe.

The Old Roman's Law Office.
BY J. H. GALBRAITH
Those old enough to have been familiar with Columbus thirty or forty years ago, will recall a small one-story frame building standing on the east side of High street south of Main, on whose front door, almost flush with the sidewalk, appeared a silver plated plate on which the name "Allen G. Thurman" appeared.
It was the law office of the "Old Roman" of Ohio, Judge Thurman, but if the memory of the writer is dependable, no professional shingle hung over the door, and the door-plate alone guided the seekers of legal advice—that, and the knowledge that was general throughout Ohio, that Judge Thurman was a good lawyer. Memory places another building just like it, by its side, but what that building was used for or by whom occupied in Judge Thurman's time, falls to show.
Probably most of those who remember the quaint little law office, suppose it was razed when the site was cleared for the building of the southern hotel, but not so. A friend has identified the building now standing on the south side of Main street not far east of the Southern theater, bearing the street number 49, as the old law office of Judge Thurman. It was bought and moved to this site when the hotel was built.
Persons who enter the building now, probably do not know that the walls saw important law and politics conferences between Judge Thurman and his clients and political colleagues, in the years when he stood at the head of the Columbus bar, and was an outstanding figure in the Democratic party in Ohio.

New York Day by Day.
BY O. O. MINTYRE
New York, Feb. 22.—Diary of a model Peppy: Came by messenger from Charles O. Norris the original of a painting, by the now famous Jean Joubert, of Norris, Gilbert White, and I, done in Paris years ago, and what the novelist brought to America recently. And never has a gift so mightily delighted me.
So finished my stint and to the Chatham to a reception to James Branch Cabell and on to Charlie McAdam's and played with his baby daughter and V. V. McNitt, McCallane Barclay and Hal Phyte came and also Charles Driscoll, Ken Kling and Ham Fisher. Home working feverishly.
To a play, talking to John Golden's secretary, Jean Fairmyre, as pretty as her name, too. Afterward driving Rupert and Pat Hughes to the Elyses and stopped at the Messmore Kendalls who were giving a dinner to George Fitzmaurice. On to the Casino to a big party for the deservedly popular actor, William Gaston.
Somewhat, lately, I warm to the flattery self-effacements of those stage comics, Ed. Wynn and Victor Moore, in contrast to a flood of cocksure Eddie Cantors and George Jessels. Or maybe it is just the strain of waiting for my Peru bond to perk again.
Leslie Howard is an accomplished dancer. The other night he dropped into a place of the beaten path where he was not known. A maitre de hotel bowed low and trotted off in the direction of his local version of the Black Hole of Calcutta. Reaching it, he turned to see Howard and his party occupying the best right-side table. Storming back like a threatening cloud, he inquired: "Just what does Macco think a head-waiter is for?" Howard replied calmly: "I've never been able to figure it out."
Personal nomination for the best description of Chief Justice Hughes: "His bump of humor is a dimple."
I am told of another aloof New Yorker utterly incapable of shaking off austerity. He makes quick, cold bows even to old acquaintances. His secretary, with him thirty years invariably tips into his private office. Yet I know a secret about him that pulsates into an enormously human gesture. He keeps an old-fashioned cookie jar in the kitchen and sneaks out to it now and then.

Arthur Caesar, Hollywood gagster, was invited to dine at the Spanish castle of a director whom he never met. Before entering the dining-room, the director inquired: "Would you mind walking with me awhile in the garden, I want to get used to your face."
And Caesar was playing pinocle with Bugs Baer at the Friars one day when a page announced: "Mr. Caesar, your uncle is downstairs." Bugs replied: "Shave him and send him up."

Over at Madison Square garden the other Friday night, two big palookas were milling about amiably without blows coming within several feet of the mark. For several rounds this went on, and then one began to bark round and round the ring. Finally a falsetto voice floated from the gallery: "That's right, Harold, ignore him."

Prize fights produce the most confusing of side hilarities. There was the night the Bermuda Gnat met the Norfolk Kid. The large colored section of the audience became two hostile camps—the West Indian and the Bahamas crowd against the southern daisies. After some toe-to-toe slugging, the Norfolk Kid delivered a swing from the ankle into the Gnat's midriff—his arm disappeared though he had reached into a big, black trunk. A voice trembled: "I'll take the message." A few seconds later the Gnat's eyes fluttered and, completely groggy, he tried to arise, and whango! Kid Norfolk let him have another flush to the jaw. The same voice continued: "No trouble at all. I go right by his house."

A Washington Daybook.
BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington, Feb. 22.—The two recent deaths on "the hill" within an hour of each other have caused a feeling of apprehension among congressional leaders that both houses are moving along at too fast a clip.
There's a popular conception that the gentlemen in the national legislature are never in danger of overworking—that they lead as easy a life as it may, the facts remain that already with congress in session actually less than two months, some 250 or more bills have been jammed through both houses.
This number includes such measures as the Reconstruction Finance corporation—a piece of legislation which in normal times perhaps would have required months and months of wearisome debate. As it was, the bill was put through with almost incredible speed.
But unless all signs fall there'll be a slowing up in the future.
It is already evident. There's a tendency now to quit on Friday afternoons until Monday at noon. The slackening is being noticed in the press galleries, a good barometer of conditions.
The man who stands guard over their health—the bespectacled Dr. George Calver—has ordered them to take things a bit easier.
There's another thing which the leaders have had brought home to them during this constant pressure of work. They have seen impetuous members eager to press forward who sometimes appears to them to be dubious, if not really dangerous, bills.
And the only way to stop them effectively is to slow down the whole legislative machinery.
The situation—as far as congress is concerned—has shaped up nicely at present. The country, members think, is beginning to see a ray of hope—that by means of legislation thus far enacted conditions stand a chance for improvement.
It is but natural then that the leaders want nothing done now to disturb public sentiment or alarm the timid.
"We believe we have established confidence thus far," one leader put it. We can afford to slow up—at least for awhile."

Dinner Stories.
"What have you done with the beautiful entree you received?"
"Burned it," answered Miss Cayenne.
"Have you no sentiment?"
"I have a great deal. But I see no reason for cherishing an anonymous love letter. A compliment by mail is worthless when its author takes obvious precautions against his signature being identified in court."

"My wife used to chase around from one to another. Now I've got her interested in me and she plays every fine afternoon."
"But isn't that chasing around from one to another?"

Mabel—"Jack said last night that he could read my face."
Marie—"I noticed your face was red when I saw you. I suppose he printed something there; he's that type."

EISTEDDFOD CROWD FILLS CITY TODAY

Marion is Host to Hundreds at Annual Music Contest.

Every courtesy will be extended the additional visitors expected for tonight.

Information Booth
An information booth in the lobby of the Palace is in charge of Mrs. Lewis Uhl. Here visitors may learn the whereabouts of their group headquarters for each city represented, by inquiring at the information booth or of Boy Scouts.

The big event of the eisteddfod, the mixed chorus competition for which seven entries have been made, will be the last thing on tonight's program. The winning chorus will receive a prize of $300.

Mrs. H. K. Mouser, president of the Marion Concert association, presided this afternoon. Introduction of Mr. Rohn, Dr. Rhu and the adjudicators followed the opening of the main eisteddfod at 2 p. m. with the singing of "America."

Competition was held this afternoon in the mezzo-soprano, solo, piano solo, women's trio, baritone solo, contralto solo, instrumental trio, male quartet, tenor solo and women's chorus events in the order named. At the close of the session the Harding High school mixed chorus was scheduled to sing three numbers, directed by T. R. Evans.

Seven Events Tonight
Seven events will comprise tonight's program, opening at 7:30 p. m. The piano duo mixed quartet, soprano solo, church choir, male chorus, bass solo and mixed chorus event will be judged tonight. The winning male chorus will receive $150 and the women's chorus will be awarded $100. A prize of $75 has been offered the successful church choir.

L. J. Jones of Fostoria, superintendent of music in the Fostoria schools will lead the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" which will open tonight's session.

A special number tonight will be a solo by Miss Charlotte Collins, Delaware flutist, accompanied at the piano by George W. Belkanger of Delaware.

The school eisteddfod opened with the singing of "America the Beautiful," led by Miss Doris Gump, assistant to Mr. Evans. W. E. Orcutt, vice president of the Marion concert association presided and introduced Mayor Phillips, Mr. Rohn and the adjudicators.

FORMER RESIDENT OF CAREY CLAIMED

CAREY, Feb. 22.—Funeral services for Mrs. Nellie Straw Courtright, wife of Dr. Dudley Courtright of Circleville, was held at the First Presbyterian church there Monday afternoon. Mrs. Courtright was the daughter of the late David and Margery Straw of Carey. She was born in Carey, Aug. 15, 1872, and resided here until her marriage to Dr. Courtright 31 years ago. She is survived by her husband, five children and a brother, L. E. Straw of Carey.

EISTEDDFODS HAVE LONG HISTORY

Welsh Are Considered Founders of Modern Music Contest

The Eisteddfod such as is being held in Marion today has a history that antedates the birth of Christ. Marion musicians and singers have only in recent years become actively interested in the Eisteddfod, but to several groups here today participation in an Eisteddfod is a precious privilege handed down from ancestors. The Eisteddfod is generally considered a Welsh institution, although the first historical reference is found in Caesar's Commentaries.

The Jackson Cecilia chorus and Jeanette Chestnut Cecilia choir of Jackson, O., came here today to compete in a music event that is an annual affair in Jackson. Jackson is in a Welsh settlement in southern Ohio and is nationally and internationally known for its Eisteddfods. Last year the national Eisteddfod was held at Jackson.

The first historic Eisteddfod was held at Conway, North Wales, in 840 A. D. In the year 1900 approximately 273 Eisteddfods were held in Wales.

The first national Eisteddfod of Wales was held at Aberdare, South Wales, in 1861 and since then a national Eisteddfod has been held once a year alternately in North and South Wales, or in some principal city in England.

The first American Eisteddfod was held at Carbondale, Pa., in 1850. Jackson county's first Eisteddfod was held at Oak Hill in 1875.

Eisteddfods in this section of Ohio have been conducted only within the last 10 years. The first was held at Mansfield in 1922. Since then Eisteddfods have been held at Lima, Ada, Kenton and Van Wert.

Last year Marion won the $200 prize in the mixed chorus event with the superior singing of the Marion Concert association. The association will compete tonight for the award of $350.

PRESIDENTS TO PLAY MANSFIELD QUINTET HERE TUESDAY NIGHT

Complete Sked Friday at Shelby; Have Chance To Cop League Crown.

The most bitterly contested basketball campaign which the North Central Ohio basketball league has seen in many a season will be brought to a whirlwind conclusion this week. All of the six members of the circuit will don the shorts twice in the next five days and upon the outcome of part of the six battles depends the championship of the circuit. Mansfield, Ashland and Harding are all in the running for the crown with Ashland a slightly favored position.

Harding will be called upon to face two tough foes, the first on Tuesday and the second on Friday. Mansfield will complete the Presidents' home schedule Tuesday and the Men of Bohyer will end the season Friday by trekking to Shelby for a return battle with the Whippets.

Other Tuesday Games
Other Tuesday battles this week will see Shelby at Gallon and Bucyrus at Ashland. Friday night games will take Mansfield to Bucyrus and Ashland to Gallon.

Harding will be battling for a number of things in both the Tuesday and Friday night games. Shelby and Mansfield have both beaten the Presidents by small scores and as yet no team has succeeded in winning two games.

Harding has been the team of the week in this season from the Bohyermans. Besides the effort to keep the record unblemished for the right to do no worse than share in the championship of the circuit, Ashland and Mansfield are tied for the top now with Harding a game behind. If either Gallon or Bucyrus can defeat the Hilltoppers once and Harding can win the remaining two games, the Presidents will be found nestling on the top rung of the ladder when the week is ended.

However, attempting to figure in advance how an N. C. O. league title is going to end is just about as reasonable as trying to guess how many fish there are in the Atlantic ocean. You have about as much chance of being right at one as you have the other. Scarcely a week goes by without some underdog handing the dope bucket a vigorous boot. All of which makes the race intensely interesting but doesn't make work any easier for those so called experts who sit in swivel chairs and try to figure which of the teams is going to be on top when the final reckoning is made.

Marion Seeks Revenge
Coaches Bohyer and Williams are expected to put the Harding basketball team through a fairly lengthy session this afternoon in preparation for the effort to dislodge Mansfield from the top Tuesday. The Tigers were victors over Harding by an 18-17 count in their previous meeting and the Presidents are anxious for revenge. A desperate battle is likely to take place with neither team holding any advantage in the pre-game odds.

All of Harding's players are expected to be ready for play Tuesday, something which has not been the case for more than two weeks. Bill Stark, the last of the ailing, is apparently in shape to play if needed. Jack Ling is ready to go and so is Freddie Vestal. Vestal is likely to see considerable service this week as his presence last Friday supplied the spark necessary to touch off the scoring blast that buried Gallon under a 26-12 score.

CALEDONIA DEFEATS WALDO COURT FIVE

Pleasant, Green Camp Also Survive First Round of Church Loop Tourney.

Caledonia, Green Camp and Pleasant survived the first night's competition in the Marion county Sunday school league's elimination tournament which got under way Saturday night on the Y court. Caledonia, winners of the league championship, Prospect and Moral were the three teams eliminated.

Green Camp started the elimination ball rolling by slipping the lads under Prospect, beating the latter team by a 48-21 score. With Porter and H. Ritzler tossing in buckets from all angles of the court, Green Camp had little difficulty in winning by a one-sided score. Ritzler accounted for 14 points, all in the second half while Porter tossed in 15 tallies. Sites led the Prospect scorers with eight points.

Pleasant Trinity Lutheran, with two new men in the lineup, surprised the Moral M. E. five and turned in a 20-19 victory in a hard-fought battle. Wells and Schneider, both Pleasant High school luminaries of the season just closed, played with the Pleasant church team. Neither did much in the way of getting points but both played good floor games.

Moral played the last two minutes of the game with four men on the court as personal fouls took two players from the squad. Moral led the game all the first three periods but Pleasant captured the decision in the final frame.

After dropping two games of the regular season to Waldo Reformed, Caledonia came back Saturday and walloped the league champions by a 31-21 count. Caledonia held the advantage all of the way and at one time held a 13-0 lead over the title holders. Waldo came within five points of tying the score in the latter part of the game but Caledonia spurred and left them far behind. Dale Baird led the

MYNSTER, BOZINIS IN MAT FEATURE

Marion Mynster, former light heavyweight champion, will exchange toe holds with Nick Bozinis, the tough Jersey City Greek, in the main go of tonight's wrestling match at the Steam Shovel gym.

Although the main go promises plenty of excitement, it will have to go a long way to take away the spotlight from the semi-final between those two great football stars, Hardy Kruskamp of Ohio State and Father Lumpkin of Georgia Tech. Kruskamp and Lumpkin will meet in a 45-minute bout.

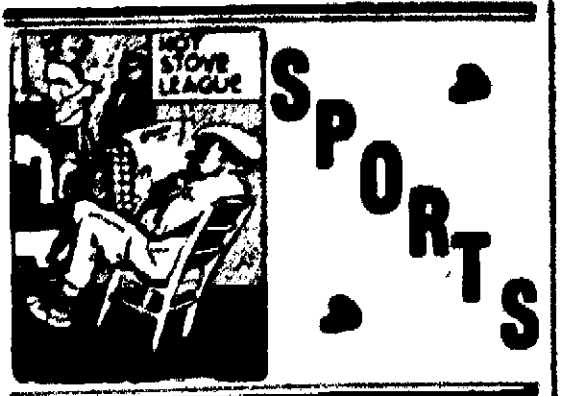

16-YEAR-OLD BUC ROOKIE FRAMES LOSS OF JOB FOR DIAMOND START

From a messenger boy's job to a contract with the Pittsburgh Pirates within a year is the jump made by Kirby Higbe, 16-year-old hurler of the Columbia, S. C., American Legion junior team.

BY PAUL SIMMONS
By The Associated Press
COLUMBIA, S. C.—Priming self-confidence is a dominant trait of Kirby Higbe, 16-year-old Columbia pitcher, who fought his way up from nowhere to a contract in the majors.

The young right-hander, who never played baseball in school, or anywhere else until a year or so ago, has signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates and will report to the National league club in February.
He got his start with the Columbia 1931 eastern championship American Legion junior team. He gained a berth on this outfit by sheer grit and a bit of strategy that resulted in his being "run off from his job" as a telegraph messenger boy.
His father, L. W. Higbe, Columbia traveling man, explained how "the kid's nerve" landed him on the Legion junior nine and won the major league contract.
"Kirby told me," he said, "he was going to play on the Legion team, they were going to beat everything down this way, and he would be signed by a big league club."
"I thought it was just 'kid talk,' but that's what happened—just like Kirby said. The same kind of stuff is going to put the boy up

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

With the basketball seasons of the various leagues rapidly approaching an end, court enthusiasts are again turning their attention to the naming of honorary teams. The season in any circuit, it appears, would not be completed unless some one named an all-league combine.

It makes no difference who names the mythical team. It isn't necessary to know anything about the different players except their names. Regardless of who is named, there are few, if any, who will agree it is the strongest possible combination. Alleged experts have been picking these teams for so long that fans are getting to take them as a matter of course.

The two leagues in which Marion and Marion county fans center their interest are the North Central Ohio and the Marion county league. The Marion county league has completed its season and the N. C. O. will complete its schedule this week. Consequently it's about time to name mythical teams from the various organizations of these two circuits.

Plans have already been made for the naming of the Marion county all-star combine. Coaches and referees of the rural loop have been asked by The Star to select two mythical teams in both the boys' and girls' divisions. These teams will be selected early this week and will probably be ready for publication by the middle or latter part of the week.

The honorary team of the North Central Ohio league will be chosen sometime the latter part of this week and will probably be released on next Monday.

Two of Marion's baseball players will get a chance to try out in fast company this season. Don Penry and Kenneth Gallant have both been given contracts to join "farms" of the vast diamond organization controlled by the St. Louis Cardinals. Neither has been advised with which team he will get a tryout. Penry signed up some months ago for a trial while Gallant received his contract only last week.

Penry will probably try out for a around the top in the big time circles.

When the slim youngster decided to play on the Legion team, his father did not want him to quit his "regular job" and the team manager did not want him on the nine. Kirby soon changed all this.

"Kicked" Upstairs
He "framed up" with his "boss" to fire him from his messenger job. Then he organized his own team in a local National Guard loop.

In one game he fanned 19 big, strong men who had looked upon him as "just an ambitious kid." In other matches he whiffed out a dozen or so batters.

Then the Legion team manager sent for the sensational "kid" who was "burning 'em up" in the sandlot circuit.

The Columbia team, Kirby doing a large share of the pitching, went to the Legion junior eastern finals at Manchester, N. H. With Higbe on the mound, it turned back Bridgeport, Conn., 5 to 2, to win the eastern title.

In the national finals at Houston, Tex., Columbia met South Chicago in the championship battle. Higbe pitched a brilliant game, but his team was nosed out, 1 to 0, in 14 grueling innings.

Gets Nice Contract
The youth, whose pitching on the junior team earned him the Pirate contract, was asked what he was going to do in the big leagues. His answer was brief:

"I am going up there and do just like I did down here. I am going to make good."

He will receive $500 when he reports to the Pirates on Feb. 15 and $800 a month and expenses the first season. After working out with Pittsburgh, he will be farmed to Wichita, Kan., of the Western association for seasoning until the Pirates recall him.

Finish Second in Marion County Race

If at first you don't succeed, try, try, again, seems to be the motto of the Morral High school boys' basketball team. Last season the Morral boys won the Western division championship of the Marion county league and lost to Kirkpatrick in the game that decided the championship of the entire county. In the season completed last Friday night, Morral again won the division title but this time lost to Caledonia in the quest for the county crown.

Undaunted by the disappointment of two setbacks, the Morral boys are already making plans for the next season. Coach George Schwartz will lose only one player, Sindlinger, by graduation and he is looking forward to another good season next year.

first base post while Gallant generally cavorts at third base. Of the two, Penry is better known locally, having played sandlot ball in this district ever since he has been big enough to swing a bat. Gallant came here only last summer and has done most of his ball playing in Lima sandlot circles or as a member of the Bluffton college baseball team.

Both of them have a horde of friends here who will be pulling for them to make the grade in the Cardinal organization.

BUCKEYE CAGE TI CLAIMED BY DEPAU MT. UNION ON

Findlay and Bluffton C locked for Northwest O Conference Title.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—one championship already another practically clinched the third up for decision this collegiate basketball in Oh about ready to fade out of the ture for another nine months.

DePauw university of castie, Ind., has laid claim Buckeye Athletic assoc championship by virtue of victories and two defeats. The on the finishing touches Saturday at Granville by ekling 23 to 21 victory over Denison in the Ohio conference Union, with eleven league against no defeats, is at the of the heap. The Mounts four games remaining and tory in any one will assure of at least a tie for leadership.

Findlay and Bluffton are locked for the title in the team Northwest Ohio league with three victories and a p defeats. There will be no t this title, as the two leaders slated to meet Thursday night result settling the champions.

There's still a battle on second place in the Buckeye. Wesleyan and Wittenberg locked. Wesleyan will meet son at Granville Wednesday night while Wittenberg will tain Miami Friday evening. I win they will share the place berth for the season.

Hendricks of Wesleyan, Mariner of Muskingum last for individual scoring honor the state. The Wesleyan play 174 points and Mariner 170, because he was out of one c last week. Twenty-one play the state have scored 90 or points this year.

Although the season is in end, there is no let-up. Saturday, five games throughout state were decided by a total points. Four contests ended one point victories while DePau lost by two points to DePau

A GREAT AIR-LINER WAS MISSING

A PASSENGER PLANE, bound across the continent with eight persons aboard, was long overdue at an airport in the southwest. For more than three days, rumors and reports came from the entire section, alternately raising and crushing hope.

Finally, there came a definite clew to the plane's whereabouts. Through the air, by auto and pack-horse, and even on foot, ASSOCIATED PRESS reporters penetrated the wilderness, reached the scene of the disaster and a waiting world received the news of the passengers' unfortunate fate. From the nearly impenetrable mountain-side were rushed the first photographs of the wreckage to member newspapers throughout the country.

Almost every day the representatives of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS face hardships, discomforts and serious risks to bring you a speedy, accurate report of the news.

PROGRAM GIVEN BY PUPILS OF SCHOOLS

Honors Bicentennial of Washington's Birth; Certificates Are Awarded.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR
BUYCRUS, Feb. 22—An elaborate program, honoring the birth of George Washington, which has been in preparation for the past two months, was presented to a large audience Sunday afternoon at the high school auditorium by Buycrus public schools. The afternoon's program was in two parts, the latter the moving picture recently purchased by the schools entitled "The Life of George Washington."

During the first part of the program, which was of a varied nature, presentation of certificates to students receiving highest grades in the examination on the life of Washington given to all public schools recently, was made by Common Pleas Judge C. V. Ahl, chairman of the local Washington bicentennial committee. The first half of the program included music by the Buycrus High school band under the direction of J. C. Hazen; the minut danced by grade children under the direction of Miss Virginia Wise; two plays, "The Rehearsal" written by Miss Margaret Foltz and produced by the Girls' Glee club, and "The Making of the Flag," written by the sixth grade at Lincoln school and directed by Miss Esther Grelle.

CORNERSTONES ARE LOOTED BY THIEVES

KENTON, Feb. 22—Robbery of the cornerstone of a rural church and an attempted robbery of another, have been reported in Hardin county the last week.

Discovery was made that culprits, after smashing two windows in the Goshen Evangelical church along the Harding highway, east of here, robbed the small tin box which had been placed in the cornerstone of the church at the time of its erection. The box contained a few old coins, records of the church and community. The stone had been chiseled into to remove the box.

Morrow County Teams To Play at Mt. Gilead and Cardington.

SPECIAL TO THE STAR
MT. GILEAD, Feb. 22 Representatives of eight consolidated schools drew for places in the first round of the Morrow county basketball tournament Saturday at the office of H. O. Hanna, county superintendent of schools. Mt. Gilead and Johnsville meet in the first game of the first round to be played at Cardington Friday afternoon. Marengo and Sparta will tangle in the second afternoon game of the first round.

Friday evening Iberia and Cardington will play in the first game and the fourth game Friday will be between Edison and Chesterville. The semifinals will be played Saturday afternoon at the Mt. Gilead high school gym with the winner of the Johnsville-Mt. Gilead and the Marengo-Sparta games meeting in the first game and the winner of the Iberia-Cardington and the Edison-Chesterville games fighting it out for the right to enter the finals.

The finals Saturday night at Mt. Gilead will be preceded by a foul shooting contest and an exhibition girls' game.

DENIES APPROVAL OF PUNISHMENT

MT. GILEAD, Feb. 22—A vigorous denial of reports that the board had approved the action of principal R. G. Hildebrand in inflicting corporal punishment on Marie Canterbury, 13, was issued here today by H. D. Miracle, president of the board.

At the special board meeting called last week immediately after the whipping, the board members investigated the situation and found that the girl should have been punished but they stated that they in no manner approved of the severity of the punishment inflicted.

Hildebrand expressed regret to the parent of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Canterbury, at the board meeting which a number of parents attended.

PROGRESS MADE IN OIL NEGOTIATIONS

Marion Residents Interested in Developments of Urbana Concern.

The Forward Oil Refining & Development Co. of Urbana, in which a number of Marion residents are financially interested, is reported by a story appearing in the Urbana Citizen to have completed negotiations with the Cities Service Co. to use a new petroleum "cracking" process developed by the Urbana company.

Dr. C. H. Forward, prominently associated with Urbana company, is credited in the story with the development of the process and with the successful conclusion of negotiations with the Cities Service Co. Expansion of the Urbana company's facilities to use the new process in the production of a new motor fuel in large quantities is predicted. Dr. Forward, according to the article, has worked years developing the process, and for the last nine months has been in New York negotiating with the Cities Service Co. Tests of the product of the new system will be made soon.

A Very Fine Baby
Why Meddle with Asia?
Our Shanghai Settlement
Plenty To Do at Home

BY ARTHUR MESSER

NEWTON, Kan., Feb. 22—Two hundred years ago Mrs. Washington sat up in bed, holding in her arms a very fine, heavy baby, to be named George.

She undoubtedly sat up as soon as the baby was handed to her and nursed George as soon as he was ready for his first breakfast. Such was the custom in those days. Twenty-four hours later, probably, Mrs. Washington was up, attending to her household. But modern mothers should imitate only the nursing part.

Mothers would live longer, be healthier, more useful to their children and happier if they would rest two full weeks lying in bed after the birth of a child, sit up the third week, walk around the room after four weeks.

Many are too poor to take that advice, unfortunately.

George was born a British subject and but for him we might all be British subjects now. Our Canadian friends will say, "It would be much better for you if you were." That's another story. We think not.

You will read so much about George Washington today that it would be cruel to add to the outpouring. Enough to say that he established this nation, gave it sound advice—to mind its own business and let other nations mind their business. If we fail to take that advice and become a mere political annex of Europe, it will serve us right.

ASIA'S WAR NEWS becomes each day more horrifying. It is horrible to see an actual photograph of a kneeling Chinese, accused of "sniping" which means shooting from windows and other hiding places when not in uniform, kneeling before a Japanese soldier, with bayonet raised above the sniper's breast.

With hands raised, the Chinese prays for mercy. Lines under the photograph say: "A few seconds after this photograph was snapped the Chinese sniper was dead."

DREADFUL is this war, although less horrible thus far than the big one just finished, with its Liberty bond speeches, patriotic bands playing, and its efforts to kill more and more of the enemy and scare their women and children.

It is not our business to regulate Asia and its wars. If George Washington told us to keep out of the quarrels of Europe, 3,000 miles away, what would he have said about the quarrels of Asia, 7,000 miles away?

THERE IS A SETTLEMENT of Europeans and Americans in Shanghai, a "European quarter," and because of that we claim the right to tell Chinese and Japanese what they shall do about fighting each other.

There are settlements of Chinese and Japanese in San Francisco. Suppose they had tried to tell us what we must do in our big war. Suppose they had suggested that San Francisco might be bombarded from sea or air, with Chinese or Japanese hurt, and therefore the war must be stopped.

It will be said, "Yes, but we are white and very rich, and therefore have the right to tell those of a different color, not so rich, what they shall do."

That is nonsense. Canada, Mexico and this country will not permit Asiatics to colonize on our side of the Pacific. The British Empire forbids Asiatic colonization of South Africa, or Australia, or New Zealand, that lie within the shadow of Japanese guns.

Since we tell Japan she must not expand on our continent, what right have we to forbid Japanese expansion in Asia?

JAPAN, her sixty millions crowded on a few islands scattered along the edge of Asia, needs more space on the mainland.

We, once small colonies scattered along the eastern shore of North America, required room to expand and took it—Texas, California, New Mexico, etc. There is a difference in taking land from the red Indians, who did not use it, and taking land from highly industrious Chinese.

But as prosperity has increased in our lands that were formerly Mexican, so undoubtedly will Manchurian lands taken by the Japanese increase in prosperity under Japanese organization and management.

THIS CONTINENT or a large part of it, is ours. We should concentrate on what we own. Accidentally, we hold the Philippines and Guam. These we should fortify thoroughly, forgetting the foolish Washington conference, fortifying, not for aggression, but for protection, in case of need.

Pekin is noted for its palaces.

Marion County Taxpayers Respond Slowly in Listing Personal Property

County Auditor Earl E. Thomas today was delivering to incorporated companies bulky packages of blanks and forms on which the companies must list their personal property for 1928.

These listings, like those of individuals, must be filed with the auditor by March 31. First returns for individuals were taken last Thursday.

There has been little response to the announcement last Thursday that the auditor was ready to receive personal property listings. Only 70 persons had responded by Saturday afternoon. More than 4,500 blanks on which property must be listed were sent out.

Forms Are Complicated The new system of listing and collecting personal property, unwieldy because of the complicated forms and receipts which must be made out for each property owner, has proven generally unpopular among taxpayers, but is sorely tried.

The reason for its popularity is the reduced amount of personal property tax paid by the average individual.

A great many Marion county residents are made virtually non-taxpayers by the new system. Although taxation, in one form or another is inescapable, many Marion residents will pay neither realty nor personal property tax under the new law. The most common non-taxpayer will be the man who lives in a rented house and has virtually no personal property excepting household goods and an automobile, which are exempted from taxation as personal property.

If his savings are in the form of bank and building and loan company deposits, he will not be taxed for them, since the two-mill tax on such savings is being paid by the banks and loan companies.

Rural residents must list livestock, produce and farm machinery, and a great majority of them, by virtue of their ownership of some property of this nature, will continue to be personal property tax payers. Most of them, however, have comparatively little farm machinery and produce, and all of this is taxed at only 50 per cent of its true value. For livestock, there is an exemption of $100. When the valuations on these types of property have been cut in half and the exemption taken out, many well-to-do farmers will pay only a few cents in the form of personal tax.

Many Non-Taxpayers While the new tax system is said to be working out favorably in other places, it has failed to bring promise of raising much new revenue in this county during the first three days of listing and collecting. The revenue it will produce can not yet be accurately gauged, however, as merchants and industrial concerns have not yet had time to fill their blanks, which cover exhaustively every type of property.

Some persons rather resent being non-taxpayers under the new system. One citizen wanted to donate $10 to the treasury when he discovered he would not be assessed any personal property tax. He explained to the auditor that he had paid approximately $40 a year in previous years in personal property tax, and felt that he should continue to pay his share toward the maintenance of police and fire protection and other governmental services.

How unwieldy the new tax set-up has proven is shown by following the average taxpayer through the necessary steps to list and pay his personal property tax. The process starts when the taxpayer is mailed or handed a six-page blank filled with dozens of places where property valuations are to be placed. Although the taxpayers are expected to fill this himself or with the assistance of an attorney, many bring them to the auditor or his assistants for advice. One man made out three separate returns last week, consuming an hour of his time and that of the auditor to fill out the blanks. A receipt was then typed, four copies being made. The taxpayer took two of the four, went to the county treasurer's office and paid half of his personal tax immediately or within 10 days to escape a penalty. The treasurer took one of the receipts for his records, the taxpayer took one, and the auditor kept two.

Further complications in giving assistance to taxpayers in the preparation of their listings are almost certain to develop if taxpayers do not file their listings immediately. Indications are that a great majority of property owners are waiting until the last two weeks in March to list property. With only five persons available for this kind of work, the office will be swamped unless the flow of taxpayers begins soon and continues evenly throughout the season, the auditor declared.

Separate blanks are provided for stockholders in incorporated companies. Each shareholder must make out one of these blanks, and several thousand will be required in Marion city alone. These are to be sent to the tax commission, either directly by the shareholder or through the auditor's office. The responsibility for obtaining a blank to list stock in incorporated companies rests on the shareholder.

CHILD DIES HERE FROM RARE DISEASE

Evelyn Lucille Gamble, 10, Claimed at Parents' Home; Funeral Tuesday.

Evelyn Lucille Gamble, 10, of 277 Forest street, died yesterday of leukemia, a disease of the blood forming organs. The disease is extremely rare, the attending physician said today.

The child had been ill for the last four weeks. She died at 2:30 p. m. at the home.

She was born July 29, 1921, near Meeker to William Gamble, a native of Morrow county and Onea Fetter Gamble, a native of Claridon township.

She leaves her parents and two brothers, Robert W. and Darrell E., both at home.

The funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the home. Dr. C. E. Turley of Epworth M. E. church will officiate. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery.

Rev. Father E. H. Summe Preaches Lenten Sermon

"If this world is to be a better place to live in, safer, saner and more peaceful, mankind must be taught to get down on his knees and realize the real import of life, and realize the real import of life, and realize the real import of life." In this statement Rev. Father Edward H. Summe, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Catholic church gave his answer to the problems of a world "in which the very well springs of civilization are drying up." In the second of a series of Lenten sermons last night at St. Mary's church. The church was filled to capacity for the service. A special invitation to non-Catholics to attend the series is extended by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Spickerman, and Rev. Father Summe.

"As we look over the past for 2,000 years the name of Jesus Christ has made history. It is written in the lives and laws, in the hearts and histories of peoples the world over. The ideals of justice so proudly preached, but so little practiced go back to the day when the blood of Jesus Christ was so cation to Almighty God to bless the country and bring us out of the present hour of darkness with enlightened senses of justice." Father Spickerman said to Pulpit of the grades and school will receive holy communion for this intention.

Asia is the most interesting to students.

"My business takes me all over the world"

"Guess I'm like most Americans who travel a lot, I take many of my hobbies with me. Chesterfields, for instance. I've smoked 'em for years."

"They're not only made good, but they're made to keep good, and that's why they hold old customers like me."

"Take the tobaccos. That fragrant Turkish tobacco—your taste gets that, all right. And the whole blend—say, there's nothing like it for milder, better taste."

"But my point is, Chesterfields are just the same wherever I buy them—Argentina, India, New Zealand. The package is O. K.—moisture-tight, clean-looking—keeps the aroma in."

"Even the paper comes into it. As far off as Shanghai I've noticed how pure and white and fresh it is."

"I've never yet found a town where Chesterfields couldn't be had! And no matter where I've bought 'em, they've always been just exactly right!"
